

Biography (January 2008)

A celebrity in the UK from her four seasons on the award-winning police drama "The Bill," Samantha Robson has just completed filming "The Witch Files" for ITV. Her second US film lead "The Poughkeepsie Tapes" produced by MGM will be released in the summer of 2008. Her first US film "A Year and a Day," with Fairuza Balk and Sean Gullette is also due to release in 2008. Samantha is also the voice of "Sarah" on the Cartoon Network's "Toonami."

Additionally, Samantha produced Tim Robbins's controversial hit play "Embedded." After a successful Los Angeles premiere the play moved to the Public Theatre in New York and then onto the Riverside Studios in London, where she was also his Assistant Director.

Samantha Robson is a classically trained actress who has worked extensively with the Royal Shakespeare Company and appeared at the Royal National Theatre alongside Nobel-prize winning playwright Harold Pinter in a collection of his work.

Stage credits include Twelfth Night (RSC), Measure for Measure (RSC), Peer Gynt (RSC), Cain (RSC), Music Hall (RSC), A Brand From The Burning (RSC), Eden End (West Yorkshire Playhouse), Titus Andronicus (Hornsey Theatre), Oklahoma! (Yvonne Arnaud Theatre), and Antigone (Bristol Old Vic). Samantha has also worked with the eminent avant-garde Polish theatre company Gardzienice led by Wlodzimierz Staniewski.
